TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN RE-AJEGUNLE COMMUNITY PROJECT (ACP)

The above organization is a registered, charitable, independent, non-governmental and non-profit making organization in Lagos State.

The organization is dedicated and committed to the emancipation of grassroot women and young people's development. ACP promotes young peoples right, gives them legal protection and sees to the general well being of the masses especially the girl-child.

The organization has proved her worth in the areas of domestic violence, child/prostitution/trafficking, sexual violence, Gender based violence and discrimination in social programmes, Gender based violence and discrimination in right education, child/forced marriages and Girl-child health education.

ACP has affected the lives of individuals psychologically, academically, vocationally and socio-personally. The organization's commitment to the general development of the society cannot be overestimated with emphasis on the formation of Anti-violence clubs (in relation to Gender Based violence) in schools and communities.

The clubs go a long way in tackling the frequent abuses facing the girl-child, addressing the issue of the girl-child development, reducing the incidence of violence and discrimination, influencing the girl-child right from school and her belief and value systems about male/female relationships. The club advocates gender equality and rights, provide better information on sex education, discourages cultural practices that discriminates, prohibits indecent dressing and upholds good moral values and how to say no to what can lead them astray.

Considering the above, one can see that the objectives of the organization are in line with the plans of Lagos State for a better and brighter future for its citizenry to be better equipped to face the challenges ahead in a dynamic world.
